

43 - fatality Chicago jet crash investigated

Congressman is listed among dead

CHICAGO (AP) — A passenger jet carrying 61 persons was winging its way through sleet and snow to a landing at Midway Airport when it plummeted down in a neighborhood of tidy bungalows on the city's Southwest Side, killing most of those aboard.

Among the 43 known victims was U.S. Rep. George W. Collins, D-Ill., while Michelle Clark, a CBS television news correspondent, was among the bodies tentatively identified at a morgue Friday night.

The survivors who were aboard the United Air Lines Boeing 737 jet were admitted to a hospital for treatment.

It was not immediately determined if any residents of the neighborhood were killed when the two-engine plane skinned over the roof of one home Friday and sliced through five other houses about a half-mile from the airport.

The tail section extended from one house and the shattered nose rammed through a home and came to rest in an alley.

At least 20 persons resided in the section of homes, but many of the wives and husbands were either working or en route to schools to pick up the children when the crash occurred.

Marvin Anderson, a survivor treated and released from Holy Cross Hospital, said he sensed something was wrong when the pilot revved the engines in what Anderson thought was a "hopeless effort to abort the landing."

"Only about five seconds after the engines were revved the plane went into a stall, the nose of the plane went up and the tail went down ... then the tail hit a building and we crashed," Anderson said. "But it seemed to me the landing was smooth."

Anderson, who suffered a sprained ankle, said he just got up and walked out of the plane and that he could not remember any panic after the crash.

"Then all we saw was flames outside and I remember thinking to myself that this is the end of it," he said. "I realized then that we were looking at the inside of a house."

The log book kept by the pilot, W. L. Whitehouse of Springfield, Va., believed among the dead, was found by one of the scores of Chicago firemen who rushed to the scene after the crash ignited fires in several homes.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported no irregularities in the conversation between Flight 553 and the Midway tower during the flight approach. The ceiling was 500 feet and visibility was one mile.

A spokesman for Boeing said this was the first crash of a 737 in which there had been fatalities. The plane can carry 94 passengers.

The plane was on a flight from Washington to Omaha, Neb., with a scheduled 3:31 p.m. EST stop at Chicago.

A team of federal investigators sent to the scene worked through the night in efforts to determine the cause of the crash.

IRS Chief blasts judges

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service said here he believes that federal judges are "eroding" the tax and judicial systems by imposing inadequate and uneven sentences on tax evaders.

Johnnie McKeiver Walters told a news conference here Friday there was wide variance in punishments between the federal district courts.

"Sentencing is entirely the responsibility of the court," he said. "But if the judges asks us, we always recommend there should be some kind of prison sentence."

Walters gave several examples of what he called disparity in sentencing. He said less than 20 per cent of those convicted in the Southern District of Ohio, which includes Cincinnati, go to prison. None go to prison in Iowa and no one has been sentenced to jail in South Dakota in 25 years, he said.

Walters said more than 75 per cent of those pleading guilty or no contest in the last six years in Tennessee have been sent to prisons, while 85 per cent were jailed in the western district of Washington and 50 per cent in Indiana.

Walters said judges who go low in imposing prison sentences "are contributing to the erosion of both the tax system and the judicial system."

$215.7 million in tax sharing set for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio governments will share $215.7 million in revenue sharing funds for the 1972 calendar year, the state Finance Department reported Friday.

Checks totaling $105,673,646 for the first six months of the year were mailed in Washington Friday, and James Leckrone, assistant to the finance director, said checks for the second half of the year probably will come next month.

Of the six month total, $35,300,397, $2,100,342, and Youngstown, $1,102,316, local governments.

The breakdown for major cities: Cleveland $7,214,134, Columbus $3,267,245, Cincinnati $4,132,782, Toledo $2,293,844, Akron $1,758,408, Dayton $2,100,342, and Youngstown $1,102,316.

For the year, the state will receive $172 million and the total governments $143.7 million. Both figures are higher than allocations announced earlier because the Treasury Department made recalculations based on tax efforts by government entities in 1971.

Figures announced earlier, based on 1967 efforts, showed the state getting $68.9 million and subdivisions $138 million.

But Leckrone said just because the total figures increased, local governments should not assume their amounts will be raised.

He said their amounts depend on their tax efforts since 1967.

"For every dollar of increase, there was a dollar of decrease," Leckrone explained.

And Ohio's share of revenue sharing funds won't automatically increase in 1973 because of the state income tax that went into effect this year.

"It depends on what other states do," Leckrone said.

CCI chief shuffled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials have worked out a legal reverse play to permit retention of Frank Gray as head of the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

Joseph Palmer, assistant corrections director, said Gray will be fired from the superintendent's post, then rehired in a classified civil service job, and then named acting superintendent.

A dilemma arose when it was discovered a state law requires that anyone appointed as a managing officer of an institution must hold a position in the classified service.

writer; Vickie Thomas, an actress and dancer; Ben Boyol, an actor and writer; and Judy Sullivan, an art historian, writer and critic, will present the programs.

THE FIRST in the two-day series of programs will be presented at Washington Senior High School at 8 a.m. Monday. The program, "The Outsiders," will be presented by Miss Sullivan, Bayol and Miss Thomas. At 1:30 p.m. Monday, Miss Sullivan will present a program entitled "Why There Are No Great Women Artists" to the Mothers Circle.

At the same time in Bloomingburg Town Hall, the Community Action Commission will hear Bayol present the "Outsiders" program. The Browning Club, scheduled to meet at Carnegie Public Library at 2 p.m. Monday, will view a program entitled "Down Home."

The Kiwanis Club, meeting at the Lafayette Inn at 6:15 p.m., will be presented a program concerning "Why Young People Leave Home." Miss Sullivan and Bayol will appear on Channel 3 television at 7 p.m. for the presentation of "Mark Twain."

THE FINAL program for Monday will concern "Black Poetry" to be presented to the American Association of University Women at 8 p.m. by Miss Thomas.

Spacemen rehearse landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Today was final rehearsal for man's last planned visit to the moon, a personal challenge for three Americans who have trained together nearly two years.

It was a familiar task for the men of Apollo 17, Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt—donning space suits, activating switches and awakening the lunar lander named Challenger.

But this time there's a key difference. The moon, soaring in black space just ahead, is only one day away.

The men of Apollo 17 were rested, ready and on target for their lunar adventure. They perform the real thing Monday when Challenger sets down on the moon for an exploration science hopes will fill missing gaps about that world's evolution.

The astronauts are to move into lunar orbit on Sunday.

In the rehearsal Cernan and Schmitt, who are to be the 11th and 12th Americans to visit the moon, float through a tunnel connecting the command ship, America, with the smaller lunar module. Then they close the hatch connecting the two craft, sealing themselves from the command ship to test oxygen and other systems.

Evans remains aboard America, just as he will when his crewmates land on the moon.

Cernan, the 38-year-old commander of the final Apollo, and Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist and the first U.S. scientist in space, boarded Challenger for the first time Friday and found it in good shape.

"It looks clean," Schmitt told Mission Control during the two-hour inspection. "Everything is fine looking. Looks like there's some life in the old bird."

The astronauts detected only one small problem—one of 12 latches sealing Challenger and America together failed to completely engage. Evans inspected the latch, but on or

Expect substantial boost in federal feed grain plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration farm officials hope to announce the 1973 feed grain program next week, and there is growing evidence the plan will be adjusted to seek substantial production increases for corn and soybeans.

The Agriculture Department a few weeks ago said an announcement would be made by Dec. 1. But the Office of Management and Budget, which is holding close rein on next year's farm payments, reportedly wanted further readings on possible ways to adjust "set aside" acreages and costs to taxpayers.

Also, the severe weather situation which has hampered fall harvests in much of the Corn Belt may have cut 1972 soybean production more than first anticipated.

Officials want to tailor the 1973 feed program so that farmers will be encouraged to produce more corn and soybeans to help supply what experts see as a strong demand for those crops through the 1973-74 marketing season.

One option being considered could entice farmers to plant around 52 million acres of soybeans next spring, up about 12 per cent from 1972. Soybean grower representatives, however, say that is too much and that a 10 per cent increase seems more in line.

However, farm program costs are a factor and the more liberal plan—including possibly a boost of three million acres in 1973 corn plantings—could trim nearly $1 billion from the feed grain program's cost in 1972.

No government estimate has been made of soybean losses to bad weather this harvest, but the USDA reported this week that as of Dec. 3 more than one-fourth of the crop still was in the fields.

Nixon shakes up 2nd-level aides

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — After completing his second-term Cabinet selections, President Nixon is moving to shake up middle and upper levels of far-flung federal bureaucracies.

The President announced Friday that Richard G. Kleindienst will remain as attorney general, and thus rounded out the Cabinet team he will have at his side when he is inaugurated on Jan. 20. At the same time, the chief executive disclosed that five key Justice Department aides and two Interior Department officials are leaving the government.

The five Justice Department officials are Deputy Atty. Gen. Ralph E. Erickson, Law Enforcement Assistance Administrator Jerris Leonard and three assistant attorneys general—David Norman, Roger C. Cramton, and Leo M. Pellerzi.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen at this rain-swept presidential retreat that Erickson and Norman will receive judicial appointments. The other three Justice Department officials are returning to private life, he said.

So are the two Interior Department officials—Indian Affairs Commissioner Louis Bruce and Harrison Loesch, who as assistant interior secretary was in charge of public land management.

moon lander's switches and instruments and told Mission Control all were operating properly.

While his crewmates worked in Challenger, Evans conducted an experiment in the behavior of fluids in weightlessness. He heated a container of liquid which takes on a color when hot. The changes in the liquid are photographed and scientists will later study the pictures to learn about heat convection in space.

"There are a lot of big bubbles boiling up," said Evans as he watched the liquid heat. "It's a pretty picture."

Scientists are interested in learning how heat and liquids behave in space for potential application in other space experiments or in manufacturing processes.

Some corn has been lost, too, and demand in the 1972-73 season is expected to exceed the latest crop estimate of 5.4 billion bushels.

Truman condition slightly better

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Window signs have appeared in the Kansas City area reading "give 'em hell, Harry, let's get well," and although former President Harry S. Truman still is in critical condition he is reported to be fighting back.

The last medical bulletin of the night Friday described Truman's condition as "critical but slightly improved" following a late night feeding.

The Research Hospital and Medical Center statement said Truman, 88, "tolerated" 32 ounces of liquid wheat soya vitamin through a nasal tube between 7 and 10 p.m. EST.

Physicians for the former chief executive reported his pulse rate had slowed, his blood pressure was within normal limits and his fluid output was adequate.

Earlier in the day, hospital authorities had quoted Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's longtime personal physician, as saying Truman's cardiac condition was "extremely precarious."

That brought an immediate reaction from Margaret Truman Daniel, the Truman's daughter, who arrived here late Wednesday night shortly after the nation's 33rd president was first placed on the critical list.

Appearing before newsmen twice within a two-hour period late Friday, Mrs. Daniel first said the statement attributed to Graham was an "exaggeration."

After conferring with Graham and learning that "extremely precarious" was his description, she returned to the press headquarters and said Graham had assured her that nothing in her father's condition had changed. She said it had been "a misunderstanding" and perhaps "a bad choice of words."

Truman has been struggling with lung congestion and subsequent heart, bronchial and kidney problems. He entered the hospital Tuesday.

The Friday night medical report said the former chief executive "seems to be more reactive."

UMW election ends; ballots to be counted

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The ballots from the United Mine Workers election, conducted under what may have been the most strict government supervision in American labor history, are on their way to the counting house.

Labor Department officials who watched over the court-ordered elections locked sealed ballot boxes into bus luggage compartments this morning and shipped them to Silver Spring, Md., where they will be counted by the department's Office for Labor Management Services Administration.

The results of the election will not be available until around Dec. 20.

The election "went off very well" said Laurence Davey, federal election co-ordinator for UMW District 31 in the northern part of the state. "there were no major incidents of any sort," he added.

Scattered action reported along DMZ, 2 other areas

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52s kept up heavy bombing of enemy supply and troop concentrations along the demilitarized zone for the third straight day today.

Further south, a government militia post was rocketed and then overrun by what was estimated as a battalion of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, field reports said.

South Vietnamese tanks and armored personnel carriers backed a marine crossing of the Thach Han River in another bid to extend the area of government control in Quang Tri province, but reported no ground contact with the enemy.

The B52s concentrated seven missions of up to three planes each just above the coastal end of the DMZ, the U.S. Command announced.

It was the third straight day of heavy air attacks in the same general area. Four other B52 missions hit the DMZ and there were 11 missions in Quang Tri province, just below the demarcation line.

The U.S. Command reported fighter-bombers flew 60 strikes against targets in North Vietnam Friday, many of them in the area just above the DMZ.

There were 208 U.S. tactical air strikes in support of government troops in South Vietnam, the U.S. command announced.

Aerial reconnaissance showing a big build-up of North Vietnamese troops and supply trucks around Ben Quang led to saturation bombing of the whole area with several thousand tons of high explosives.

The trucks were believed bringing fresh war material to southern battlefronts in a bid to beat a possible cease-fire curtailment of reinforcements, military sources reported.

Livestock ration evaluation available to farmers here

The Ohio Livestock Ration Evaluation Program is a new service available to beef producers and dairy cattle farmers through the Fayette County Extension Service according to the county agricultural agent John Gruber.

The ration evaluation program will provide beef and dairy farmers an accurate and detailed analysis of the rations they are feeding their animals.

Farmers can have rations evaluated for one or more of eight animal types including lactating dairy cows, dry dairy cows, dairy heifers, finishing steers, replacement beef heifers, lactating beef cows and dry beef cows, Gruber explains. By submitting just one "fact sheet" and a set of feed samples, a producer can get rations evaluated for up to six different animal groups according to levels of production or body weight, he pointed out.

To participate in the program, a farmer submits to the laboratory a sample of one or more of the rations he is feeding his animals. He must submit a fact sheet on which he indicates the type or types of animals for which he wants the ration evaluated and the animal's average body weight. Included on the fact sheet by the farmer will be the pounds of each feed consumed daily.

Laboratory technicians analyze the feeds for nutrient content. A computer utilizes the analytical results and calculates total amounts of nutrients fed daily per animal and compares these amounts with standard nutrient requirements for that type animal.

Uncle Sam comes to aid of farmers

The State Emergency Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a special meeting in Columbus reviewed facts and plans for action needed to assist farmers hit by the worst harvest disaster in Ohio's history.

Details of how help may be obtained for some farmers through two USDA emergency programs were explained by spokesmen for two agencies, Director Lester Stone, of Farmers' Home Administration (FHA), and Executive Director Dwight R. Harris, of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), who is also chairman of the Emergency Board.

Corn and soybeans which farmers have been unable to harvest due to rain-soaked fields have an estimated value in excess of $250 million. The chances of harvesting a substantial portion of these crops has grown more remote with rain falling almost daily over much of the state since late September. And there are increasingly frequent reports of the standing grain and soybeans deteriorating, particularly from mold.

A NOV. 27 SURVEY of each county in the state shows just 40 per cent of Ohio's corn and 60 per cent of the soybeans harvested. Dan C. Tucker, Chief Statistician for the Statistical Reporting Service, reported.

"A year ago, harvest of both crops was completed by the comparable date. Normal expectations are for 99 per cent of the corn and all soybeans to be harvested by the end of November," Tucker said.

In the 11-state Grain Belt, the harvest of both corn and soybeans is behind normal: 62 per cent of the corn is reported harvested, compared to 87 per cent averaged in the preceding five years; 74 per cent of the soybeans are harvested, compared to "virtually complete" in prior years. Ohio lags behind all other states in the region in percentage of corn harvested and all except Indiana in soybeans harvested.

Director Stone said the FHA office is forwarding requests to Washington for designation of 39 counties as eligible for emergency loans on the basis of natural disaster and many additional requests are expected.

The requests come from USDA Disaster Boards in affected counties and are based on actual losses and not anticipated losses. Determination of actual losses has not been possible prior to the end of the normal harvesting period.

COUNTIES for which natural disaster designation is being requested are Williams, Fulton, Lucas, Ottawa, Defiance, Henry, Wood, Sandusky, Erie, Lorain, Paulding, Putnam, Hancock, Seneca, Huron, Medina, Van Wert, Allen, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Marion, Morrow, Holmes, Mercer, Auglaize, Shelby, Delaware, Darke, Miami, Preble, Montgomery, Greene, Butler, Warren and Clinton.

An application for inclusion of Fayette County, and other counties in this FHA district, as a disaster area has gone into headquarters, but apparently no action has been taken on it yet. A meeting to support the request is slated for next week by James R. Kitchen, acting district FHA supervisor, Chester Phillips, director of the ASAS here, County Extension Service Agent John Gruber and Otties Smith, chairman of the county ASCS committee. It is expected the district will be included.

Tenant and owner-operator farmers who have had property damage or severe crop losses caused by the natural disaster may qualify for the emergency loans. The funds advanced are for annual operating and living expenses essential to continuing normal farming programs. Interest rates are a low 1 per cent and are repayable from the sale of products produced with the loan.

PUBLIC LAW 92-385 signed into law on Aug. 16 makes principal cancellations available to applicants who receive emergency loans based on losses caused by the disaster. An applicant's cancellation may be up to $5,000 on losses not compensated for by insurance or other wise.

The state Emergency Board also heard of actions underway to make the Emergency Livestock Feed Program available to farmers in the northeastern corner of the state. Already underway in Ashtabula County, the program has been requested for four others, Lake, Geauga, Trumbull and Medina. The program makes grain available at reduced cost to livestock producers who might otherwise be forced to sell all or parts of their herds or flocks because of grain, silage and hay shortages.

Both the Ohio Department of Agriculture and adjutant general are co-operating with the federal farm agencies in seeking disaster designation and emergency help for farmers. Deputy Agriculture Director M. David Urnston attended the Emergency Board session. He stressed the need for adequately informing farmers when assistance for which they may qualify becomes available.

Harris said "all farm agency offices will have emergency loan application FHA forms available and will assist farmers in completing them. News articles will be announce program details in each area designated for assistance," he said.

HERE IS BACKGROUND on the weather conditions that have so heavily damaged this year's crops.

Mild weather last December started the trouble, causing sap to rise in trees in peach orchards over the state. January's hard cold damaged thousands of trees, even killed out entire orchards on some farms. The peach harvest was only 10 per cent of normal.

Frost struck again the night of June 11 when a mass of cold Canadian air moved over the Eastern United States. Crops already planted were seriously set-back. The cold air triggered rains that delayed much planting. Having moved into the Gulf, the air contributed to conditions that led to Hurricane Agnes.

That storm brought torrential rains and flooding in eastern Ohio and a presidential designation in late June of a major disaster for seven counties: Monroe, Jefferson, Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga, Cuyahoga and Lorain.

Rains throughout the growing season hampered hay-making activities throughout the season. Dismal skies and below normal temperatures affected the growth of other crops.

On Sept. 14, farmers growing tomatoes and potatoes in northwestern Ohio saw fields devastated by heavy rains and flooding.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz promptly designated Defiance, Paulding and Henry counties as a natural disaster area, making farmers there who lost crops in the September storm eligible for FHA's special emergency loan program.

THE LAKE ERIE storm that began Nov. 13 brought damaging rains and floods to both urban and farming communities along the eastern and southern shores. President Nixon designated five counties as a major disaster area. They were Lucas, Ottawa, Erie, Lorain and Lake.

The presidential designation opens the way of storms and unseasonable rains that have plagued most of the state since June is an SRS report on wheat plantings. Nov. 30 marked the end of the planting season for this crop and farmers have been able to plant only 60 per cent of the acreage they planned in September.

This factor, Statistician Tucker noted, will mean lower farm income for farmers again next year.

DON'T STOP HALF WAY! FINISH THE JOB RIGHT ...WITH PURINA HOG CHOW

So you've got your pigs off to a fast start. Don't stop half way! Finish them out the research-proved Purina way—with Purina Hog Chow and your own grain.

Here's why so many hogmen choose Purina Hog Chow to help them finish their hogs for market:

- It contains nutrients and growth boosters to help your hogs pile on pounds, fast . . . and at low cost.
- It's highly-fortified with antibiotics to help stimulate growth and ward off costly disease.
- Purina Research Farm tests show hogs are ready for market in less than 5 months . . . and they make 100 lbs. of pork from about 5 bushels of corn and 46 lbs. of Purina Hog Chow.

Feed Purina Hog Chow as a mixed ration with your grain, free choice.

Don't stop half way. Finish your hogs on Purina Hog Chow. Ask for it at our store.

Wool and lamb payments applications may be filed

As soon as marketing is completed, producers who plan to file to incentive payments on wool and unshorn lambs are to bring the sales documents to the County ASCS office, CCC Highway-E.

A special reminder was given that growers who marketed unshorn lambs this fall may apply for payment. "Payments authorized under the National Wool Act apply to unshorn lambs, as well as shorn wool. This is to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing, which could result in shorter, lower quality wool," said Otties Smith, chairman of the Fayette

No danger seen from poinsettia

False impressions and erroneous reports published in recent years of the alleged dangers to the poinsettia apparently are coming to an end.

A top official of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has advised the Society of American Florists (SAF) that ingestion of small amounts of the poinsettia plant has not presented a serious health hazard. D.C. Kiplinger, professor of horticulture at Ohio State University, says.

Based on a study done by Robert P. Stone and W. J. Collins, academic faculty of entomology, 160 rats showed no signs of toxicity or any apparent ill effects when given large doses of homogenates made from the leaves, bracts or flowers of the poinsettia. (Rats are customarily used as test objects for determining the relative toxicity of insecticides, fungicides, herbicides etc.) FDA officials concur with the findings of Stone and Collins.

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

Sales documents brought in by producers should include name and address of the seller, date of sale, net weight of wool sold, number of head and live-weight of unshorn lambs sold, gross and net proceeds, and name, address and signature of the buyer.

Wool sales prices are needed, Smith explained, to determine the incentive payment rate — the percentage necessary to bring the average return for all wool marketed up to the incentive level of 72 cents a pound.

Each applicant's payment is determined by applying the national percentage figure to the individual's net return from sale of wool. In this way, growers who market the wool in most demand and who do the best job of selling it, receive the highest incentive return, Smith pointed out.

One rode a long way in a truck, and shrank and shrank. His bacon shriveled, and his hams were weary. He was so disappointed, he cried. But not as much as his owner when he didn't get paid for all the pounds lost along the route.

The second little pig travelled to a great big barn where they ran him up a ramp, down a ramp, and around a little ring surrounded by chairs. A strange man screamed at him in a funny language and people raised their hands and nodded their heads. They brought him food, water, and bedding, but he was too weary and frustrated to eat. But not near as frustrated as his owner was when he received a check minus room and board and selling expense.

The third little pig went happily into his master's truck and took a short spin to the Heindold Hog Market. There he trotted across the scale and immediately went back to sleep in a nice pen with all the buddies who made the trip with him. But he wasn't half as happy as his owner, who took home a fat check with no commission, yardage or other deductions for marketing.

Extension for completion of REAP possible now if weather interfered

Farmers unable to complete conservation practices under the 1972 Rural Environmental Assistance Program because of excessive wet weather may get an additional six months in which to complete the work, according to Ottis Smith, Chairman of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service.

He said that Congress recently had extended the expiration date for cost-sharing under the 1972 REAP from Dec. 31 to June 30, 1973, in special situations under certain limitations.

The time extension applies only to agricultural producers who were prevented from completing work on their 1972 REAP practices because of adverse weather conditions.

FAYETTE COUNTY has been designated as an area in which this occurred. Since 1972 REAP funds are available within the state, the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) committee has been authorized to grant time extensions where necessary.

Each cost-sharing application will be considered on an individual basis by the County ASC Committee, Smith said.

Farmers who are not prevented by adverse weather from completing their 1972 REAP practices still have a Dec. 31 deadline for reporting to the county ASCS office that the practices are completed or substantially completed.

FOR FARMERS whose 1972 REAP conservation practices or plans have been delayed because of adverse weather, the county ASCS committee has authority to grant extensions of outstanding 1972 approvals for practices likely to be at least substantially completed by next June 30.

Depending on the availability of funds, the county ASCS committee may reinstate approvals previously cancelled because adverse weather prevented completion or substantial completion of the practice by Dec. 31.

The county ASCS committee also has authority to accept requests and to continue to obligate unused 1972 REAP program funds after Dec. 31, where it is determined that the farmer wanted to participate under the 1972 program but did not apply because of adverse weather conditions.

REAP program participants, or would-be participants, whose practices or plans were disrupted by the weather are to get in touch with the county ASCS office to discuss the situation and determine whether they want a time extension into 1973. Smith said June 30, 1973, would be the final date for completion or substantial completion if an extension is approved.

Lovable, 800-pound pig proves ideal family pet

FIREBAUGH, Calif. (AP) — James and Mickey Boccabella have gone whole hog when it comes to a family pet; they've got Arnold — a lovable, 800-pound, housebroken pig.

"He's just a little Hampshire," Mickey says. "And he loves most people."

Arnold, who happens to bark like a dog and sometimes eats four dozen donuts for breakfast, has his own bedroom — where he sleeps 20 hours a day — in the Boccabellas' San Joaquin Valley home.

Boccabella brought Arnold home the day he was born more than two years ago. Arnold was the runt of a litter of seven pigs and was unable to stand or nurse. He weighed two pounds and "all who saw it said it wasn't going to make it," Mrs. Boccabella said.

But with hand nursing and constant attention, Arnold grew to be a healthy three feet tall and seven feet long.

Mrs. Boccabella and her daughter, Patty, used to take Arnold for rides in the car, until he reached 500 pounds and outgrew the family sedan.

"He would get so excited, he'd foam at the mouth when we'd drive downtown or to the ranch; and, when somebody came along side the car, he'd start barking," Mrs. Boccabella said.

One motorist was so startled when she saw Arnold in the car "she darn near turned her car over," Mrs. Boccabella added.

On another occasion, a deliveryman knocked at the front door. But, when he saw Arnold peering from behind Mrs.

Boccabella, he beat a hasty retreat. "We have never seen him since."

INVENTIVE FUTURE FARMER — David Streitenberger, a MTHS Future Farmer, shows off the portable, adjustable livestock loading chute he designed and constructed as an arc welding program. He won third place and $25 in a regional competition with it.

Adjustable livestock loading chute made by Future Farmer

A Miami Trace High School Future Farmer has designed and constructed a livestock loading chute with much greater utility than conventional chutes now in general use and has received sixth place and a $25 cash award for it in regional competition sponsored by the Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation.

David Streitenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Streitenberger, Prairie Rd., carried out some of the general ideas suggested by two other vo-ag students. Bill Sexton and Dave Johnson, at MTHS, are to come with a portable and adjustable sheet metal chute. He constructed it as an arc welding project of the vo-ag class.

It is 12 feet long, can be raised or lowered by a winch and cable for loading livestock in a pickup or double-decker truck, or made wide enough for cattle or narrowed enough for hogs.

Streitenberger, Johnson and Sexton all worked together on loading chutes, but Streitenberger was the only one who entered the Lincoln Foundation competition.

William Diley, a vo-ag instructor at MTHS, estimated Streitenberger invested around $200 in his project, but said he doubted that he would sell it for twice that much. The chute is now being used almost daily on the family farm.

The GAO says cost overruns on 47 weapons systems are over 29 billion dollars. The Pentagon is said to be disappointed in this performance, and will shoot for a billion per system.

$100 billion a year spent for food alone

By L. H. SIMERL

University of Illinois Department of Agricultural Economics

The pursuit of food is the chief occupation of mankind. Significantly enough, Americans dine better and with less exertion than any other people.

Even so, they now are spending at a rate of $100 billion a year for food, according to recent estimates by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This amount is equal to about $480 per person each year. For a typical household of five persons that would be $2,400 a year.

Our national food bill is considerably more than $100 billion. That figure does not include the good donated by government agencies to schools and needy persons and nonpersonal spending for food, such as the food furnished to inmates of hospitals and institutions, food included with transportation tickets and camp fees, business purchases of meals and alcoholic beverages.

What do they get for their food money? Of course, each family gets what it wants and can afford. But here is an overall view of the supply situation for 1972 — and some prospects for 1973:

Beef consumption will be close to 115 pounds per person in 1972. This is 2 pounds more than in 1971 and 1 pound more than the all-time record of 114 pounds set in 1970. A small increase, perhaps 1 or 2 pounds, is expected in 1973.

The supply of pork for 1972 will total nearly 68 pounds. While this is 5 pounds less than the modern record of 73 pounds set last year, it is 3 pounds more than the previous four-year average. Pork supplies will begin to increase during the last half of 1973, and may reach new record highs in 1974.

The supply of lamb and mutton during 1972 will total about 3.4 pounds per person. This is up slightly from the previous year, but is about average for the 1960s. Little change is expected during the coming year.

Veal output continues its long downward trend. Consumption will be only about 2.2 pounds per person in 1972 and even less during the years ahead.

(NOTE: The consumption of meats in any year is determined by the amount that is produced and sold by farmers, rather than by consumer preferences or buying power. The weights shown are dressed carcass weights at the packing house. Retail weights are smaller because much bone and fat is trimmed off before the meat is sold to consumers.)

Fish consumption will total about 11.4 pounds per person in 1972, which is about average for recent years. They will put away about 43 pounds of chicken this year, 1.5 pounds more than the previous record level of the two previous years. Turkey consumption also is setting a new record this year — nearly 9 pounds per plate. Egg consumption will average about 318 per person, about normal for recent years.

To create one ton of wood, a tree has to soak up about 1,000 tons of water.

Curb on sea freedom

An intriguing question of personal freedom is raised by the U. S. Coast Guard's action to prevent three Californians from taking their families on a coastal cruise. This virtually unprecedented step was taken on the strength of a provision in the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 which says that "no person may use a vessel . . . in a negligent manner so as to endanger the life, limb or property of any person."

In essence the question is: Does that provision give the Coast Guard the right to interfere with private voyages at its discretion? If one answers yes to that question, another inevitably follows: Does not this discretionary power open the way to more or less arbitrary governmental control over when and where people may sail on the seas?

The answer to that question is yes. Whether this is a good or a bad thing depends on one's viewpoint and on a weighing of pertinent factors.

One such factor is that regulations on power boats are quite lax. On this point hear Comdr. Richard Rounselle, chief of the boating safety branch of the 11th Coast Guard District in Long Beach, Calif.: "A boat remains the only powered vehicle that you can buy one minute and run the next, without any kind of license or instruction." This presents problems for those responsible for the safety of boats. Relatively inexperienced operators tend to get into trouble, whereupon the Coast Guard must find and rescue them if possible.

One must ask, through, on what basis the Coast Guard can determine in advance that persons will operate a boat "in a negligent manner . . ." There are penalties for such operation. Does predetermination that someone is going to break the law invade the concepts of no prior restraint, and of presumed innocence until guilt is proven?

These are matters that ought to be considered. Safety precautions are important. The fundamental question is: How far can authorities rightly go in curbing personal freedom for safety's sake?

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

'A confidential source'

Ever since the Supreme Court held that the relationship between a reporter and his sources was not "privileged" (that is, protected from scrutiny on the model of the lawyer-client connection), there has been a great deal of discussion about curbs on freedom of the press.

The controversy was intensified when the Supreme Court held that a Harvard assistant professor, Samuel Popkin, had to answer a grand jury's questions on the Pentagon Papers or go to jail for contempt. A handcuffed Popkin was seen en route to prison. (He was subsequently freed.)

There are two aspects of this problem, one of which has been almost entirely overlooked. Understandably, emphasis has been placed on the moral obligation of a newsmen to protect a confidential source. (Or, in Popkin's case, on the duty of a scholar to safeguard his informants.) But very little has been said about the inherent dangers — to journalism as to scholarship — of using unverifiable sources.

LET US LOOK first at the legal issue, which is historically simple. In the American majoritarian tradition there were no inherently privileged relationships. Indeed, the very foundation of a democratic order is that every citizen is a cop, that laws are enforced by the citizenry not by the police.

This majoritarianism, which somewhat resembled vigilantism, would only tolerate "privileged" relationships if they received statutory approval. Given the role of lawyers in politics, the first privilege to receive general acceptance was that between lawyer and client.

Contrary to supposition, the doctor-patient and minister-parishioner relationships have largely rested on custom, not statute. Indeed, a case can be made that to provide special privilege to the priest or minister would violate the separation of church and state. In practice it is hard to conceive of a grand jury throwing a priest in jail for protecting the secrets of the confessional. However, not more than a year or so ago in New York a psychiatrist was forced to testify, the state courts holding (correctly) that only a statute could provide immunity.

The answer to the press' (and Dr. Popkin's) problem then (as the Supreme Court pointed out) is an act of Congress stipulating immunity for the reporter or the scholar. In the meantime reporters or professors who choose to protect their sources just have to take certain risks, and in the process thank God they are not dealing with British judges, who really throw the contempt power around.

BUT WHAT about the other side of this matter, the growing use of unverifiable "confidential sources"? Of course, journalists have done this routinely for years.

It is a practice I try to avoid because, having been one, I am suspicious of the motives of "high White House sources," who are normally trying to play the press like a salmon. However, with the advent of "instant history," we now find whole volumes which at crucial evidential points rest on a "confidential source." Or worse perhaps, on no cited source whatsoever.

Imagine my interest when, in Herbert Parmet's "Eisenhower and the American Crusades," I learned that "one of Dulles' closest confidants" had revealed that Ngo Dinh Diem was "discovered" by the CIA and "rammed" into office in 1954 by John Foster Dulles. Later we are told that during President Eisenhower's 1955 heart attack, Dulles was the "quarterback," that "nothing was done without his approval."

This is interesting because 1) it sounds like Dulles' view of his own role, and 2) it is in contradiction to what others have said. Good, let's find out — check footnote 9: "Confidential source." Thanks a lot.

Parmet, however, is a small-time operator when it comes to "confidential sources." David Halberstam has just turned out a 665-page book on the Kennedy-Johnson era in which a number of people are quoted in extraordinary fashion, and even more non-people (a "Johnson aide," a "Kennedy confidant," etc.) turn up saying the strangest (but singularly useful from Halberstam's viewpoint) things.

There is not a single footnote in the book! I suppose if you can't beat 'em, join 'em: Did I ever tell you how Jack Kennedy told me never to believe anything Ken Galbraith said?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 24-year-old son of Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., is scheduled to stand trial here Jan. 18 on assault charges filed in the alleged drugging of a former Playboy bunny.

Trial for Robin Cranston was postponed from Thursday in Superior Court because a prosecution attorney was ill, a court spokesman said. Cranston is charged with assault in the alleged drugging of Joyce Marie Williams, 23, in a West Los Angeles home last March.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

The tragic death of three children of the George Baker family on E. Paint Street, Monday night as a fire wiped out the interior of their home and also sent the father and mother and a daughter to the hospital with serious burns, brings to mind another and much greater tragedy, of a similar kind which occurred in northern Fayette County in Jan. 1921. Seven people burned to death in that blaze.

All are buried in "Potters' Field" (in unmarked graves) in Washington Cemetery. The remnants of badly charred bodies of six of the victims are buried in one grave.

The tragedy occurred in a small tenant house on the Tway farm, Woods

Rd., a half mile west of the former Green School, early in the morning. The father, James Adkins, 42, was using a can of kerosene to start a fire in a kitchen stove, and the can exploded. Enveloped in flames, which turned the kitchen into a blazing inferno, Adkins dashed from the house, fatally burned, but ran a half mile to summon help.

Following the explosion, the flames, in a matter of minutes, had spread through the small cottage, and the sleeping family and an uncle perished. Their bodies were still burning in the mass of glowing embers when two local newspapermen reached the scene, and in the presence of 34 stupefied onlookers, carried tubs of water and extinguished the flames which were consuming the bodies.

Those burned to death were Mrs. James (Rosie) Adkins and her four children, Grace, 14, Cleona, 11, Naoma Ruth, 4, and Fredia Lois, 21 days, and Walter Bennett, 70, an uncle. James Adkins died within 18 hours and was buried near the other victims on Jan. 24, 1921, the six other having been buried the day previous, as shown by the records of the cemetery.

The missing ingredient

Only a short time ago a high-ranking Pentagon official remarked for publication that he figured military spending would go down in fiscal 1974. This curious departure from the norm has now been set to rights by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who gives assurance that there will be no cut.

On the contrary, he anticipates that expenditures in fiscal '74 will run about four billion dollars over the current figure of 76 billion.

Laird seeks to justify, or at least account for, his forecast of "slightly more than 80 billion dollars" by citing increased manpower costs. There is no doubt that this budget item will rise very substantially; the increase for the fiscal year starting next July 1 is estimated at 3.9 billion. That does not in itself warrant a commensurate boost in the total budget.

The missing ingredient is evidence of genuine determination to make cuts in the military budget, and to deal effectively with the perennial problems of mismanagement and wasteful spending. In this connection it is instructive to consider a report from the General Accounting Office which hit the news just the day before Laird made his comments.

The GAO report was prepared for Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin, who has begun to play a leading part in exposing Pentagon inefficiency and carelessness with the taxpayer's dollar. The congressional watchdog agency reports that cost overruns on 47 major weapons systems now stand at an estimated 29.4 billion dollars.

We are told that during a single three-month period, between March 31 and June 30 of this year, the cost overrun total went up by 1,021 billion.

We do not draw the facile conclusion that all the overrun money could have been saved by a combination of zeal and efficiency: there are factors that create justifiable increases, no matter what pains are taken to avoid them.

The enormous overrun totals do suggest once again that the Department of Defense pays far too little attention to making the most of the billions lavished upon it.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our relatives, friends, and neighbors for the acts of kindness shown to us during the recent fire and loss of our mother. Special thanks to the Jeffersonville and Bloomingburg fire departments, Reverend Roy Love, and Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Dec. 9, the 344th day of 1972. There are 22 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, the Japanese invaded the Philippines at the beginning of the Pacific war.

On this date:

In 1608, the English poet, John Milton, was born in London.

In 1793, Noah Webster established New York's first daily newspaper.

In 1905, separation of church and state was decreed in France.

In 1934, Ethiopian and Italian troops clashed on the border between Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia.

In 1940, British troops opened their first offensive in North Africa during World War II.

In 1944, Allied troops cracked German defense lines near Aachen, Germany.

Ten years ago: A U.N. report showed net farm income had improved in most Western countries but had dropped nearly 24 per cent in one year in Canada.

Five years ago: President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, and Marine Corps Capt. Charles Robb were married at the White House.

One year ago: Indian troops who were pushing through East Pakistan reported they had encircled the capital of Dacca.

'Fayette Memorial Hospital

DEAR MR. KUNZ: Too often, when citizens of a community have no other facility such as yours and really have nothing else to compare it with, the complaints roll in. However, it was with extreme pleasure and pride that I listened to several compliments about your hospital coming from an out-of-state resident this week. The emergency room patient in this case was a knowledgeable registered nurse who is accustomed to much larger facilities. According to the patient, Fayette Memorial has an efficient, courteous staff, an excellent treatment system and has equipment as modern as most larger hospitals. We have felt the same way for a long time and are grateful to you and your staff, the medical staff and the nurses and nurses' aides for maintaining such a hospital.

Bad day at the race tracks; only 4 horses finish

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — The event at the Riccarton Racetrack was called the Avon Steeplechase. It could well have been the Calamity Stakes.

Of the six horses entered, two completed the two-mile course without too much trouble, Boldway beating Doodman by 25 lengths.

Timely finished third — after losing its rider and waiting at the final jump until two other horses were removed, Casca which broke down and Drum Call which fell and broke its neck.

The other horse called Duldul? It lost its jockey halfway through the race and made its own way back toward the saddling enclosure.

There, another jockey mounted the horse and rode it round the empty track to finish fourth — 13 minutes after the winner.

Peach sauce enhances gingerbread pudding

GINGERBREAD PUDDING — It's prepared with a mix, the easy way, and has a sauce of canned cling peach slices. Mincemeat is added to both pudding and sauce.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cooks who like to give a new twist to packaged gingerbread may be interested in the following recipe. Here the gingerbread mix is made with mincemeat and the dessert is served with canned cling peach sauce that also uses mincemeat.

GINGERBREAD PUDDING

1 package (14½ ounces) gingerbread mix

½ cup ready-to-use mincemeat

Peach Sauce, see below

Prepare gingerbread according to directions on package. Before turning into pan, gently fold in mincemeat. Bake according to directions. Serve hot with warm Peach Sauce.

PEACH SAUCE

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) cling

peach slices

¼ cup sugar

1½ tablespoons cornstarch

¼ teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon grated lemon rind

1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 tablespoons butter

½ cup ready-to-use mincemeat.

Drain peaches, reserving syrup. In a medium saucepan thoroughly stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in reserved peach syrup, keeping smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Add lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Fold in peach slices and mincemeat. Serve warm over gingerbread. Makes 9 to 12 servings.

Note: A topping of whipped cream may be added if desired.

New proposals announced at Girl Scout leaders meet

Fayette County Unit-meeting of Girl Scout leaders was held at the Mahan Building. Miss Mary Knapp, of the Seal of Ohio GS Council, was in charge of the meeting.

Miss Knapp reported on the six proposals made at the National GS Convention held in Dallas, Tex. Proposal 1, that the GS Promise and laws be clarified and simplified, was passed.

Proposal 2, that the number of delegates to the National Convention be changed from 4,000 to 2,000. Each local council shall elect at least one delegate, and therefore one additional delegate for each 1800 girls, but to keep maximum delegation to 2,000 instead of existing 4,000. This also passed.

Proposal 3, that active members of Girl Scouting who are over 14 years of age may be council members was passed.

Proposal 4, that a delegate unable to attend National Council could send a proxy vote, was defeated.

Proposal 5, that elections of office and board of directors at National Council should be by ballot was also defeated as Roberts' Rules already read that any delegate there may request a ballot vote in preference to public vote.

Proposal 6, that any girl under 18 who lives in an area where there is no troop available, may pay registration and become an Associate member. This retains her GS membership. This proposal also passed.

Miss Knapp also reported on and gave literature for the GS Cosi Camp-in to be held Jan. 12, 13 and 14 and Jan. 19, 20 and 21 in Columbus.

Some area girls attended the Wyoming Trek '72 and a trip to the Bahamas last summer, who will show pictures and display souvenirs or talk about their experiences to any troop who desires to hear them.

Copies of the new gift certificates for GS camping were also shown. Anyone may purchase one as a gift. The

MM Methodist women name new officers

The combined circles of the Madison Mills United Methodist Church met in the church which is beautifully decorated for the Christmas season. The meditation period for the evening was presented by Mrs. Frank Barrett, who centered her thoughts on "What do I want for Christmas?"

Mrs. Forrest Fry, retiring president, conducted the installation service for officers of 1973: Mrs. Jess Schlichter, president; Mrs. John Melvin, vice president; Mrs. John Delay, secretary; Mrs. Paul Huff, treasurer; Mrs. George LeBeau, Church Women United representative; Mrs. Cecil Recob, Christian social relations; Mrs. Ethel Wilson, missionary education; Mrs. Fray, spiritual growth; Mrs. Wayne Shobe, program materials; Mrs. Gary Hidy, press reporter; and circle leaders, Mrs. Raymond Anderson and Mrs. Barrett, Mary Martha Circle; and Mrs. Don Hanawalt and Mrs. Robert Hinchman, Shining Cross Circle.

Mrs. Fray conducted the business which followed. Mrs. Huff reported that the annual UNICEF drive netted $65, which will be used to provide food, milk, and medicine for needy children throughout the universe.

A discussion of a study course for the first of the year is a possibility, and final plans made for the Christmas party to be sponsored by the Society for 50 ladies at the Columbus State School. Mrs. Recob is chairman.

For the January circle meetings, the Prayer and Self-Denial programs will be presented. A report was made regarding what is being done for the low-income families in the community at Christmas time. Mrs. John Melvin, Mrs. Recob and Mrs. Gary Hidy will deliver items to these families.

Student Recognition Sunday will be observed Dec. 31 at the church, when college students will be recognized during the worship service.

The annual meeting of Church Women United will be at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 26 in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, when Mrs. Elmer Burrall will be guest speaker. Members were reminded to review their subscription to Response and or New World Outlook magazines.

The ladies will serve coffee, punch and cookies during the fellowship hour which will follow the Christmas concert to be presented by the senior choir Dec. 17 at the church. Members are to donate two dozen cookies. New program calendars were distributed to those present.

On Jan. 3, the hostess for the Mary Martha Circle will be Mrs. Fry, who will host potluck dinner at 11:30 a.m. All members of the Shining Cross Circle are invited to attend. Mrs. Harold King is in charge of the program. At 8 p.m. Jan. 3, the Shining Cross Circle will meet with Mrs. John Melvin, when the program will be presented by Mrs. Robert Hinchman.

Others present were Mrs. Blodwen Melvin, Mrs. Leland Dorn, Mrs. Bess Seaman, Mrs. Frank White and Mrs. Gordon Payne.

Gamma CCL makes donations

Ten members of Gamma Child Conservation League met in the home of Mrs. Maynard Denen Thursday for the Christmas meeting and dessert buffet. This was the annual holiday party and the home was pretty with holiday decorations.

During the lengthy business session conducted by Mrs. Denen, the group voted not to support or approve of any project by the CCL Federation, unless the money was on hand for that project. Contributions were made to the AFS chapters at Miami Trace and Washington Senior High schools, and to the George Baker fire fund at the First National Bank here. The 'open door clinic' was discussed and it was announced that seven Federation members attended the convention held in Cincinnati.

The finance committee announced that a profit was made from their recent bake sale, and the Jan. 3 meeting will be held in Anderson's Restaurant. This will be guest night, and Dutch treat refreshments. Mrs. Ronald Cornwell will be guest speaker.

Squirrely bridge was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening, following the gift exchange. Winners were Mrs. Virgil Lowe and Mrs. Opal Ault.

Bazaar winners

Winners of the annual bazaar held by the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women of St. Colman Catholic Church were Mrs. Charles Brocke, Miss Elaine Weade, Mrs. Emerson Marting, Gus McDonald, D.J. Moore, Mrs. Mary Himmelsbach, Miss Christy Wright and Carry Sutherland.

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: The Eskimo festival failed to lift the continuous winter from the Eskimo lands. Although Miski the wise man says nothing more can be done, Oonik the Eskimo boy is determined to try another plan.

CHAPTER THREE STORM AT SEA

With Keotuk at his heels Oonik ran home. He found his sled frozen to the side of the igloo. With his snow knife he cut it free. The sled was made of bone and pieces of driftwood, with reindeer antlers as a handle. It was small but sturdy.

He harnessed Keotuk and tied his snow saw and seal spear on to the sled. Then he returned to the wise man's igloo where all the Eskimos of the Village were gathered.

"Father," said Oonik, touching his father's arm. "Is it true that on the far side of the Arctic Sea is Santa Land?"

His father nodded. "So I have always heard."

"Then," said Oonik, "I am going there."

"What are you saying?" cried his father in astonishment.

"Santa Claus is very powerful," said Oonik. "He knows when I have been good and when I have been bad. He knows what to bring me for Christmas. He always comes every Christmas Eve no matter how stormy the weather."

"So?" said his father.

"So," said Oonik, "If Santa can do all these things he can surely cure the Ice King of his rage. I will go and ask his help."

"Son," said the father, "you could never get to Santa Land. It is too far and the storms come too fast, and too often. You would die."

"If I stay here we all will die," replied Oonik. "Please, father. My sled is fast and Keotuk is the best dog in the village."

"Miski, the wise man, put his hand on Oonik's shoulder. "You are brave and wise," he murmured. He turned to the father. "Let him go," he said. "It is our only chance."

Oonik's father saw that this was so. "Go then," he said, sadly. "Perhaps your small weight and fast sled will help you make it where no one else could."

Oonik ran out to his sled. "Go, Keotuk!" he cried.

Slipping and falling, Keotuk slowly hauled the sled up the ice mountain and down to the frozen sea. It would be hard to say how many days Oonik traveled. Since it was a summer month (despite the cold) there was no night for, in Eskimo land, the summer is a time of never-ending day just as in the wintertime there is never-ending night. Finally he saw mountains ahead.

"Not much further," he cried cheerily to the dog. "When we get to the mountains we'll be in Santa Land."

"But, though Keotuk pulled on and on, they never seemed to get any closer and after a while storm clouds came down low over the sea and Oonik could not even see the mountain any more.

"This is going to be a big storm," he murmured as he anxiously studied the lowering sky. "We'd better stop."

He was especially careful digging his snow cave. He made it large and deep and when he and Keotuk were safely in he turned the sled on its side and pulled it against the opening to keep out the wind. He had hardly finished when the full might of the Ice King's fury burst down upon the sea.

But Oonik didn't care. He snuggled against Keotuk's warm fur and fell asleep.

He was awakened by a terrible noise of crashing ice. He was thrown across the cave and Keotuk came tumbling after him. Then they both slid to the top

OEA hears prayer bid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Proponents of voluntary prayers in schools were expected to make a final plea today in the final morning session of the Ohio Education Association convention.

The resolution was scheduled by Gerald Martin and Elbert Crary, both delegates from the Garfield Heights, Ohio school system, near Cleveland.

An earlier motion was refused by the Association of Classroom Teachers, action arm of the OEA.

The proposal calls for the OEA to urge the Ohio Legislature to consider an already proposed bill which calls for a constitutional amendment to consider voluntary prayer public schools.

In action Friday, the convention resolved to support "any bills opposing further diversion of public tax funds" to aid non-public schools.

Down, down, down Oonik plunged toward the black water.

of the cave. Horrified, Oonik swa that the cave was collapsing.

The ice field on which the cave was had been broken into pieces and now the huge chunks of ice were grinding together, crumbling and piling on top of one another like toy blocks tossed about by a playful giant.

Shaking with fright, Oonik suddenly felt the cave being lifted into the air.

Then, midst a thousand tons of ice, the cave burst open and Oonik was sliding down an enormous slab of ice.

Down, down, down, he plunged straight toward a pool of churning black water at the bottom of the upended cake of ice.

"Oh, help! help!" cried Oonik. "This is the end of me!"

Fake doctor kills self

ROUSES POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A man State Police tentatively identified as Uday V. Gupte of Euclid, Ohio, died Friday in the Border Patrol office in the nearby hamlet of Overton's Corners of an apparently self-inflicted overdose of poison or drugs.

Troopers at Plattsburgh said the man carried identifications with several different addresses and at least six aliases, including that of a Vijay Anand Koditwakku, who reportedly posed as a doctor at several Cleveland, Ohio, area hospitals over the past two years.

The man's last known place of employment was tentatively listed by troopers as Parma Community Hospital, city or town unknown.

The man had in his possession an Ohio driver's license and an Indian passport. The tentative address State Police were using for him Friday night

Country music dean is hospitalized

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (AP) — Kirk McGee of Franklin, 73, half of a duo prominent in the country-music field for about half a century, is hospitalized in fair condition with heart trouble.

McGee plays banjo, fiddle and guitar while brother Sam plays the flat-top guitar.

They are among the original performers on the Grand Ole Opry, but Kirk's performances have been curtailed because of his heart condition. They made their first performance on the Opry in 1925.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SUNDAY, DEC. 10

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

The "fabulous" and the "unusual" are often misleading. Get beneath the surface of new offerings. Recognize secondary factors — also the smaller but worthwhile prizes.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Certain inadequacies and minor details may be blown out of proportion, so be on guard. Express yourself well in order to win necessary cooperation. Reject extremes.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Some unexpected situations indicated, but you can keep day going generally smoothly with a little extra effort. Reflect upon what the future COULD hold and work toward that end.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You advance with, often ahead of, the progress of others. Yet you are sometimes prone to fear failure. Don't! Enlarge your scope of learning; diversify activities.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

With sound purpose and aim you can accomplish a great deal now. Bring out the best in yourself and others and make the best use of fine aspects.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Look below the surface for more leads which will help you solve problems, get ahead faster in your occupation. Creative pursuits highly favored.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Have faith in your objectives and confidence in your methods — providing that you have deliberated and made sure just WHAT those objectives and methods should be.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Handling your own or others' affairs may present new or increased problems. Be ready for changes. Don't make unnecessary ones yourself, but do accept others which seem desirable.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Rugged ambition is day's need. AND the fortitude not to break your stride hesitatingly when obstacles or new problems appear. Use that bright mind of yours.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Streamline wherever it will accelerate progress, but don't by-pass those "little" details which can be SO important. A so-so day, awaiting your clever management.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Here is a day suited to your special skills and artistry. However, work matters, domestic concerns and personal relationships will demand more than usual care.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Avoid a tendency to haste or your may make needless errors. But shun useless delays. Follow that old middle course.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a brilliant imagination and a great love of knowledge. Research is a forte and you could make a great success in the scientific or literary fields. You are extremely versatile and could achieve envably in either the business world or in the arts. In the former, would make a top-rank executive or financier, in the latter, a highly skilled musician, writer or dramatist. You are one of the most freedom-loving of all zodiacal natives and your craving for independence is so great that one may have a difficult time trying to "trap" you into marriage.

MONDAY, DEC. 11

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

A fine day for achievement. You will gain in proportion to your enthusiasm. But DO keep first things first and don't mix duties and pleasures indiscriminately.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

You may have to make certain important decisions now. Show your perceptiveness. Weigh all pros and cons carefully and let your best judgment guide you.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

When you believe in anything, your enthusiasm is so intense it is contagious, so make sure you are correct. A day in which your influence will be felt strongly.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: teachers, students, homemakers. In all conferences, negotiations, discuss matters quietly, dispassionately. Curb emotions.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Good solar influences. Intellectual pursuits and your keen wit should be stimulated. Do not overestimate your set-up, however. All gains won't come at once.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

In correspondence, all writings, take care how you express opinions. Concentrate on present work activities but keep a weather eye out for further potentials.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Waste no time in daydreaming. Think constructively and direct all efforts into channels leading to a more profitable future. Stress your innate poise and balance.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Review to ascertain which methods are working and which are not. Where you seem stymied, strive to work out better routines. Romance highly favored.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You could make new records now! This does not mean you should overtax yourself. You'll accomplish more by planning well and following through at a steady pace.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A tendency to scatter energies prevalent. Concentrate on logically conceived plans and stress good management.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

On this somewhat mixed day, don't permit doldrums, neglect duties or dwell on disquieting thoughts. Be prompt, sure-footed and accurate. And, no matter what happens, stress your innate graciousness.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Some dubious schemes may be suggested. Be alert — and reject promptly. Also, avoid eccentric behavior, extremes in word or deed.

YOU BORN TODAY have a great love for your fellowman, and your tolerance and generosity are outstanding. In this connection, however, you should use care in selecting the recipients of your altruism, since there are many who would take advantage of your good nature. But to the more morally inclined, you are a constant source of inspiration and example — which is why you would make an excellent teacher or preacher. Extremely versatile, however, you could succeed in almost any other field of your choice — especially in business leadership, the law, music, journalism or architecture.

Remember 'prostaglandin'

Many readers have responded to a statement I made in one of my columns suggesting that they remember the word "prostaglandin."

Exciting studies are being reported from all over the world about these remarkable hormone-like compounds that are being identified in almost every tissue of the body.

At first, they aroused only scientific curiosity. Now, they may play a great role in many of the important ills of man.

Dangerous blood clots, high blood pressure, severe inflammation, and even problems of fertility may be affected by these startling substances.

The horizon of enthusiasm seems to be almost limitless. Already some of the prostaglandin compounds are being released in selective cases for use in hospitals and in clinics.

When physicians are completely familiar with the complexities of these agents, and when their safety is totally established, they will be used for medical problems that today seem

Curbside psychiatry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A curbside booth offering walkup psychiatric advice has been set up by a counseling service during the Christmas season.

"In the Christmas spirit, counseling 5c" reads a sign reminiscent of the Peanuts comic strip. "The psychiatrist is in."

Since the booth opened this week, some 50 persons have dropped a nickel on the counter and spilled their problems to Dr. Benjamin Weininger, a spokesman said Thursday.

"Actually, we are doing this to dramatize the importance of low-cost mental health service in the community," said Vicki Michel. She is director of the Southern California Counseling Center, sponsor of the psychiatric service on La Cienega Boulevard.

He said the center handles 500 cases a week, but gets no public funding. "I've been listening to everything from broken love affairs to conflicts with parents," Weininger said. "Some people are surprised that their problems can be solved so quickly."

unsolvable.

Occasionally, the early symptoms of pregnancy may be confused with other conditions.

Both patient and doctor may not know that an early pregnancy is involved.

In order to uncover early pregnancy, a new two-minute urine test is being used.

Dr. Glenna Corley, at the Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City, has been routinely testing a large group of women who had medical complaints, but did not have knowledge of existing pregnancy. Thirteen cases of unsuspected pregnancy were found among 300 women.

The significance of uncovering early pregnancy in these cases is that some tests and some drugs normally used for a medical condition might possibly have an adverse effect on the unborn child.

Rapid urine tests can be easily performed in the doctor's office.

One of the dangerous complications of severe automobile accidents involving multiple fractures is the "fat embolism."

A tiny bit of fatty tissue enters the blood stream and circulates throughout the body, producing life-threatening complications.

Dr. Robert P. Horne, of the Cottonwood Hospital in Utah, sees a great many serious emergency cases because of the vast complex of highways that surround his area.

Dr. Horne has been using a simple, but remarkably effective technique that seems to have almost totally removed the threat of "fat embolus."

Pentagon Papers trial scheduled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The long-delayed Pentagon Papers trial will begin next Tuesday, says the trial judge, but the government will have to eliminate some 100 pages of evidence it planned to present.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ruled Thursday the government could not use some pages of the massive Pentagon Papers study that the prosecution didn't tell the defense it was going to cite at the trial.

Byrne denied a defense request for time to prepare for new material the government has added to its case since the trial was halted by an appeal of a wiretap issue last August.

Balanced scoring act sparks Panthers' win

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The Miami Trace Panthers fought off a hustling effort by Greenfield McClain Friday night to register an 84-74 South Central Ohio League win on the Tigers' diminutive court.

The Panthers displayed a balanced scoring effort with four men in double figures. Dave Persinger and Muff Jones were keys to the victory as they tossed in 22 and 20 points respectively. Persinger played his best game of the year also pulled in 13 rebounds while Jones grabbed eight after sitting out most of the third quarter with four fouls.

Guard Buddy Kennedy paced the Greenfield scorers with 23 markers and Larry Crabtree added 20 for the losers.

BOTH TEAMS employed a full-court press at various times throughout the game forcing numerous turnovers at both ends of the court.

The Panthers jumped to a quick 8-2 lead in the opening minutes of play, the Miami Trace fast break working to perfection. McClain, playing a deliberate game, didn't take a shot the first two minutes of play and failed to score until nearly three minutes had run off the clock. The Highland Countians, however, came to life as the play progressed and stayed within six points of Miami Trace during the quarter.

Miami Trace began to get into foul trouble in the second quarter as Pete Jones picked up his third about halfway through the period.

The Fayette Countians, however, continued to keep the pressure on Greenfield, with some excellent teamwork and a well-oiled fast break. The Panthers poured in five points during the last minute of the second quarter to take a 40-26 lead into the lockerroom as the buzzer sounded.

GREENFIELD opened the second half with six points in less than a minute and closed the gap to eight when Persinger was called for goaltending. The Panther press, led by Glenn Gifford, stole the ball the next three Greenfield possessions and roared to four quick buckets, and a 50-32 lead, the biggest margin of the night.

After the initial flurry, both teams regained their composure and slowed the game to a reasonable pace. Muff Jones picked up his fourth foul with 5:52 remaining and was removed from the game. Glenn Gifford quickly committed his fourth and fifth fouls late in the quarter and was also replaced.

McClain began to chip away at the Panther lead and had closed the margin to 11 at 60 to 49 as the fourth quarter got underway.

Greenfield cut the Miami Trace lead to nine points twice during the final period, but was unable to close the gap further. Miami Trace's fast break kept the Tigers off balance and with the score at 79-62, head coach Jan Stauffer emptied his bench.

BOTH TEAMS appeared ragged at times as they each committed 26 turnovers, many of them forced by the pressing defenses.

The Panthers made good on 37 of 68

MT reserves drop second game in row

The Miami Trace reserves team dropped its second straight game as the Panthers came out on the short end of a 56-45 score Friday night.

The Panthers suffered a cold night from the field hitting on only 17 of 56 shots for 30 per cent.

Randy Rhonemus, the Panther center, was ill as the game got underway and picked up his third foul midway through the second quarter. He was removed and spent the rest of the game on the bench.

McClain center Steve Willett led all scorers as he tossed in six shots and five charity tosses for 17 points. Gary Barr also added 13 for the Tigers.

Jay Mossbarger hit 13 and Phil Skinner tossed in 12 to lead the Panthers.

The Panthers fell behind early in the first quarter and were down by 11 35-24 at the half after a strong second quarter effort. They were unable to overcome the rugged Tiger defense and rebounding however and dropped their second game of the campaign.

McClain outrebounded Miami Trace by a 51-25 margin.

BGSU grid coach under team fire

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green football Coach Don Nehlen says he doesn't know "what the problem is" with players who reportedly are considering asking for his resignation.

"The season has been over two weeks and I haven't heard anything," said the 36-year-old Nehlen.

from the field attempts, while McClain hit 27 of 68 for 39 per cent.

Miami Trace now stands 3-1 for the season and 2-0 in SCOL play. The Panthers tangle with a tough Chillicothe team Saturday night. The loss was McClain's third without a victory.

MT, Tigers lone SCOL leaders

Circleville stymies Tribe

CIRCLEVILLE — The unbeaten Circleville Tigers and once-licked Miami Trace emerged as the sole leaders in the young South Central Ohio League championship chase following Friday night's action.

Circleville bopped Hillsboro 7-51 for its fourth consecutive win of the season, while Miami Trace handed a stubborn Greenfield McClain team an 84-74 setback.

In other action, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions, who had been involved in a three-way tie atop the SCOL standings with Circleville and Miami Trace, was upset by a muscular Wilmington team 72-60 at the Richardson Place gym.

The Circleville win coupled with Miami Trace's verdict over Greenfield set the stage for the first real showdown of the SCOL campaign as the two teams will tangle for league supremacy next Friday night at the Panther gym.

A STICKY defensive effort by All-SCOL forward Dave Truex keyed the second SCOL win in a row for head coach John Lawhorn's Tigers.

Weather to be big factor in Bengals-Browns clash

CINCINNATI (AP)—Weather was expected to play a big factor today as the Cincinnati Bengals and the Cleveland Browns fight it out in their Ohio rivalry with a possible "wild card" playoff berth at stake.

Nearly two days of rain, sometimes freezing, has left the Astro-turf in Riverfront Stadium "mushy," with puddles, and the temperature was predicted to be close to freezing at the 1:05 p.m. game time.

More than 60,000 spectators were expected for the second regular season battle between the two Ohio members of the American Football Conference. It was to be televised nationally.

Cleveland won the first game 27-7 Oct. 1 at Cleveland and has compiled an 8-4 record. Cincinnati is 7-5.

"This is a natural rivalry," said Bengals Coach Paul Brown who was fired as coach at Cleveland. "But while it's a great rivalry it's a shame in a way that I'm part of it. I don't play in the game but I'm part of it. It's a

IT'S A TOUCHDOWN! — The referee pictured here appears to be signalling a touchdown, but it actually calling for a jump ball between Wilmington's Brad Halley, shown at left on the floor, and Washington C. H.'s Joe Downs who has a tight grasp around the ball. Others pictured include Blue Lion guard Doug Rudduck, Robert Raizk and Jeff Earley (44) of Wilmington. The Blue Lions were upset 72-60. Truex shadowed Hillsboro ace Don Jewett all evening limiting the free-lancing sharpshooter to a mere 10 points and only six rebounds.

Truex also ignited a balanced scoring act for Circleville in which three players landed double figure totals. The 6-foot-0 senior canned eight field and five free throws for 21 points and smooth senior pivotman Dan Graham hooped 18 markers on the basis of eight baskets and two free throws. Forward Greg Hoskins rounded out the Circleville attack with 13 markers.

The Pickaway Countians jumped to a slender 12-10 first period margin, but added 18 second quarter points while holding head coach Robert Ream's charges to only nine to grab a 30-19 spread at intermission.

In the third period the Tigers increased their lead by scoring 17 points for a 47-33 lead and sealed the win with a 26-point fourth quarter scoring spurge.

Atlantic City, N.J., California-Davis, 6-1-2, vs. Massachusetts, 8-2.

Also scheduled at Commerce, Tex., was the championship of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, with Carson Newman 9-1-1, playing East Texas State, 9-2.

Cal Poly was favored to beat North Dakota, even without star guard Fred Stewart, who was ineligible, and defensive end Tom Chantler, who was injured.

Another club with personnel problems was Carson-Newman. The Tennessee school went into its NAIA title game with East Texas State without five black players, all starters, who were suspended for missing practice Wednesday.

North Carolina, headed for the Sun Bowl against Texas Tech at El Paso, Tex., Dec. 30, needed a victory to equal its winningest season ever, 10-1 in 1914.

Shaffer's prestigious record ruined, 72-60

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

One of the most prestigious coaching records in the South Central Ohio League was spoiled Friday night when an aggressive Wilmington team handed Washington C.H.'s Blue Lions a stunning 72-60 upset at the Richardson Place gym.

The hopped-up Hurryin' Hurricane players dominated the boards to ruin Washington C.H. head coach Gary Shaffer's four-year mastery over Wilmington.

The win, which was Wilmington's first over Washington C.H. since the clever Shaffer took over in the 1968-69 campaign, snapped a two-game winning streak for the Blue Lions and tightened the 45th SCOL scramble.

A QUARTET of players offered double digit production for Wilmington, but it was the slick-shooting artistry of senior smoothie Robert Raizk and the inside muscle of burly senior pivotman Tim Wilson which sparked the second win in a row for head coach Buddy Bell's boys.

Raizk, a 6-foot-0 delight, singled the cords with 11 field goals and four free throws for 26 points, while the Wilson added 19 points, but more importantly snared a total of 18 rebounds and guided Wilmington to a commanding 46-24 advantage in bringdowns.

Wilmington decided the contest early when it zoomed to an 8-0 lead, but it was the slick inside work of junior cornerman Jeff Earley who tossed in 11 points after intermission that helped the Clinton Countians to sizeable margins.

Earley canned 14 points and junior playmaker Bill McClary rounded out Wilmington's double figure production with 10 counters.

Dick Witherspoon ignited the scoring attack for the Blue Lions, non 2-2 on the season, with eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points. Senior forward Jeff Downs chimed in with 16 and scrappy Albert Donahue popped in 12.

THE BRAVNY inside work of Wilson and Earley was Wilmington's key as the Blue Lions were forced to commit personal fouls and eventually two players were sidelined the maximum.

Washington C.H. canned 26 of 64 field goal attempts for a 40.6 per cent figure and shot at a 67 per cent rate from the charity line, hitting eight of 13 tries. The Lions turned the ball over 21 times.

Wilmington was on target on 29 of 60 field goal attempts for 48 per cent and bucketed 64 per cent from the free line on 14 of 22 shots.

Raizk set the game's tempo when he canned a long jumper in the opening moments and Wilson started his inside maneuvering as Wilmington zipped to an 8-0 lead with 5:02 remaining in the opening period.

Donahue scored Washington C.H.'s first bucket moments later, but Raizk, who canned eight points in the opening quarter and Wilson, who had six when the second period started, engineered the Clinton Countians to a 18-9 lead.

Shaffer inserted lanky junior Jeff Wallace into the Blue Lion lineup early in the second quarter in hopes of adding more board strength.

Behind the scorework of Witherspoon, the Lions sliced Wilmington's lead to five points 25-22 with 3:11 left, but the Clinton County cagers dropped in 19 more points to grab a 35-29 lead at intermission.

AFTER A BUCKET by Witherspoon in the opening moments of the third period, the Lions were riddled with mistakes and suffered a span of nearly four minutes when they were unable to score while Wilmington free-lanced to its heaviest lead of the game (47-31) with 3:20 left.

Bell employed a full-court press while Earley and Wilson shouldered the scoring load and Wilmington claimed a 55-45 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Bench set for surgery

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench will enter a hospital late today in preparation for surgery for removal of a spot on his lung Monday.

Bench, who was not available for comment, told friends he planned to enter the hospital after attending the Cincinnati Bengals-Cleveland Browns football game here this afternoon.

Bench, the National League's most valuable player in two of the past three seasons, had hoped the results of tests Wednesday would preclude the need for an operation.

"After consultation with John, Dr. Luis Gonzalez, who will perform the surgery, and other consultants, it has been decided that John will enter Christ Hospital Saturday in preparation for surgery Monday morning.

Dr. Gonzalez said that "odds are that it is benign."

A driving layup by Downs and two straight buckets by Witherspoon combined with a full-court man-to-man press closed the bulge to seven points (58-51) with 6:04 left.

Wilmington staged off several rallies sparked by Donahue, who scored seven points in the final frame, and with the help of two Washington C.H. starters saddled to the bench with the limit of personal fouls, the Hurricane scored 17 points to seal the win.

Garth Cox paces Lion jayvee win

Washington C. H.'s reserve team erased a seven-point halftime deficit to register its third win in a row by nudging a young Wilmington quintet 55-54 Friday night.

Garth Cox, Washington C. H.'s husky 6-foot-4 junior pivotman, sparked the win as he ripped the cords with 10 field goals and eight free throws for 28 points.

In fact it was two free throws by Cox with a mere 15 seconds left in the third quarter that gave Coach John Skinner's Blue Lions their initial lead of the game, 43-42.

COX POURED in 10 of Washington C. H.'s 12 fourth quarter points to insure the Lions' second straight South Central Ohio League triumph and third win in four starts.

Wilmington puzzled the Blue Lions in the first half of play and the Clinton Countians jumped to a 18-10 first quarter lead and held at 30-23 advantage at halftime before Cox started his 20-point second half scoring spurge.

Bruce Hinman and Terry McCann scored 13 points apiece for Coach Don Scott's 0-4 Hurricane team.

Dear Abby:

Holiday party spoiled
by guests' thievery

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Now that the holidays are upon us, would you please share my unpleasant experience with your readers before it is too late?

Recently my husband and I hosted an "office" party in our new home. There were husbands and wives, some singles and their dates, and all but a few were total strangers.

We decided to confine our party to our huge recreation room area which is completely furnished with bar and rest room facilities.

During the evening we noticed a few guests roaming around the rest of the house on their own. After the party was over, my husband discovered that his wallet, which he left in his bureau in the master bedroom had been emptied. I noticed later that a few small art objects were missing. We were shocked!

Abby, how can a hostess keep her guests confined to given party area without insulting them? When the florist suggested putting up "decorative velvet ropes" to indicate where there shall be no trespassing, we were appalled. Now I'm sorry we didn't.

DISILLUSIONED
DEAR DISILLUSIONED: Even "roping off" areas is not adequate protection against a clever thief. It's a pity that thieves must spoil it for the majority. The only advice I can offer is to "know thy guests."

DEAR ABBY: The wife and I are having a disagreement I wish you would settle. Here is our problem: We have trouble meeting our monthly mortgage payments to the extent of always getting behind and having to pay late charges. We both drive old jalopies that nickel and dime us to death, and we are in hock up to our eyeballs, putting everything on credit and trying to keep up with the Joneses.

Our daughter is marrying a young man who is in the chips, so her mother went ahead and laid away a $300 wedding gown, and is planning a wedding like Lyndon Johnson gave for his girls.

Jennie Sue is a pretty girl, and she doesn't give a hoot for this boy. She is only interested in his money, but my wife says this is one wedding that is going to be the talk of the town. (It sure is, when I file bankruptcy to pay the bills.)

I said, "If this marriage lasts I will be a monkey's uncle, so why don't you just get Jennie Sue a $30 wedding gown and give ten bucks to the preacher and skip the frills and the bills?"

BROKE AND DISGUSTED
DEAR B. AND D.: Yours, if you're telling it like it is. And I think you are. DEAR ABBY: I was truly saddened to see the letters in your column from readers who wore dentures, because you gave the impression that false teeth were as good as natural teeth.

Abby, artificial teeth, like artificial arms and legs, are a burden that must be borne by many, but no man-made substitute can compare with nature's originals.

We know that dental disease and tooth loss are brought about as a result of organized bacteria accumulating at and beneath the gum margin, and with proper care, the only reasons for further loss are ignorance, accident or total neglect.

If people would brush their teeth properly and faithfully, use dental floss regularly, and see their dentists for periodic checkups, they can keep their teeth a lifetime.

N. C. DENTIST
DEAR DENTIST: I'll take 20 flosses with 50,000 yards of dental floss! It wasn't my intention to minimize the advantage of "real" teeth. I only sought to comfort those who had lost theirs.

DEAR ABBY: I've read about so many divorced women whose husbands have married younger gals, while Mother stayed single and raised the children.

The saddest part is when the children marry and the "new wife" attends the wedding with Father, and poor old Mother has to attend the wedding alone.

Having been in exactly the same spot a few years ago, here's what I did. I HIRED myself a tall, handsome, young escort from an escort service!

He was a part-time actor, and was very convincing in his role as a charming, interested gentleman.

Believe me, I never got more for my money in my life!

Milledgeville News Notes

CHURCH SERVICE

Sunday evening church services will be conducted at the Milledgeville United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. by the pastor, the Rev. Albert Briggs.

The Rev. Mr. Briggs is making plans for a Christmas eve program to be held at the Milledgeville Church at 11 p.m.

He has also requested that one Sunday each month, as the Sunday evening services continues rotating among the three churches on the charge, that a special program be planned with guests presenting a musical background and speakers. Each church will plan the program when the service is held there.

The first special guest program will be at the Spring Grove United Methodist Church Jan. 28.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Ruby Rinehart and Rev. John Landrum were united in marriage Nov. 11 at the Wesleyan Church, in Mount Vernon. The Rev. Willard Jones, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was wearing a long pink gown, pink veil and silver slippers. She carried a white Bible and a bouquet of pink and white rose buds and pom-poms.

The flower girl, Cindy Anders, was also wearing a pink dress and carried a basket of pink and white carnations. The bridesmaids were Brenda Anders and Darlene Landrum, also dressed in pink and carrying bouquets of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Mary Jones, sister of the bride, played the wedding march and Mrs. Evelyn Landrum sang the Lord's Prayer.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the town hall at Mount Vernon. Cake, ice cream, punch and mints were served.

When the couple left for their honeymoon, the bride was wearing a lavender dress and matching accessories. They traveled through the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia and on into North Carolina.

They are now residing at the new home of the Rev. Mr. Landrum, Twin Rocks, Pa.

Three drivers cited in traffic accidents

Three drivers were cited for traffic violations in five accidents investigated in the city-county area Friday and Saturday morning. No one was injured and damage was moderate.

POLICE

FRIDAY, 1:24 p.m. — Charles W. Wisecup, 21, Highland, was cited for changing lanes without safety after his car was involved in a collision on E. Court Street near Main Street with a car driven by Steven D. Hedges, 17, Rt. 2; damage was listed to left front of Wisecup's 1965 model and to the right front of Hedges' 1970 model.

FRIDAY, 6 p.m. — A 1965 model car driven in the 100 block of W. Oakland Avenue by Betty Esther Boggs, 66, of 635 W. Oakland Ave., struck a parked car owned by William W. Carter, 113 W. Oakland; damage was listed to the left rear of Carter's car and to the right front of the Boggs car.

FRIDAY, 7:30 p.m. — Linda Gay Lynch, 22, of 717 N. North St., was cited for speed excessive for road conditions after her car was involved in a collision at the intersection of two alleys running between Temple and Paint streets and North and Fayette streets with a car driven by Lowell J. Fichner, 54, of 321 N. North St.; damage was listed to the left front, grille and hood of Fichner's 1957 model and to the right front and hood of the Lynch car.

SHERIFF

FRIDAY, 11:45 a.m. — Kent R. White, 25, of Columbus, lost control of his southbound 1969 model car on an Ohio 41 curve, 4.4 miles north of Washington C.H., and it struck a cement post owned by Jess Gilmore;

Rain, snow, cold cover most of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain, snow and frigid temperatures covered much of the nation today.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for a wide area of the west, stretching from the mountains of southern California to the central and southern Rockies. Travel throughout the region was hazardous.

Temperatures remained below zero across the northern Plains with Butte and Bozeman, Mont., shivering at 37.

Ice storm warnings were sounded for portions of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine and freezing rain created hazardous driving conditions in New York. Travelers warnings were also posted for portions of Michigan, Indiana and Arkansas.

Flash flood warnings were in effect for the Atlantic Coast states from North Carolina to New York.

A band of freezing rain and sleet covered most of New England and northern New York and from southern Michigan to Arkansas. Rain doused portions of the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic States and an area from Maryland to southern Connecticut.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 37 at Bozeman and Butte, Mont., to 78 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

New jury for Pentagon Papers trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial says he will declare a mistrial, dismiss the current jury and select a new panel. U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne announced his surprising decision Friday less than two hours after receiving word that the 9th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco said it would be "foolish" to proceed with the current jury.

Byrne said he would issue his official ruling Monday, when defendant Daniel Ellsberg could be present.

Codefendant Anthony Russo was on hand for Friday's session but Ellsberg's attorney said he could not contact the former Rand Corp. employee in time for the hurriedly called session.

Russo said after Byrne's statement that the mistrial decision signified a "great victory" for him and Ellsberg.

Deaths, Funerals

GARNET H. REDMAN — Services for Garnet H. Redman, 76, of London, were held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Chester R. Geer Funeral Home, London, with Dr. Andrew Schilling officiating. Mr. Redman, a member of the Madison County Farm Bureau who had spent most of his life as a farmer on Redman Road near London, died Wednesday in the Madison Elms Nursing Home, London.

Mrs. Ernest Wall was the organist for the services. Pallbearers for the burial in Kirkwood Cemetery, under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C.H., were Eddie Kirk, Richard Kirkpatrick, Ansel W. Kirkpatrick Jr., James Kirk, William Kennedy and Robert Jones.

Former WCH man charged in warrant

A former Washington C.H. man who was visiting relatives here was arrested by city police Thursday on a warrant charging him with failure to provide for his children.

Held on a warrant issued in Franklin County is James A. Roberts, 37, of Dallas, Tex. The charge was filed by his former wife, Jeanett Nesbett, of Columbus.

Teamsters shift law firms to protest Watergate probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters president Frank E. Fitzsimmons, after failing to get the union's law firm to hold back its pursuit of the Watergate bugging case, is moving Teamsters legal business to a firm which will soon include a top White House political operative.

Sources familiar with the events say Fitzsimmons, one of President Nixon's closest labor supporters, expressed dissatisfaction that the firm of lawyer Edward Bennett Williams was exploring the Watergate affair for the Democratic party. Fitzsimmons indicated he was partially reflecting White House displeasure, the sources said.

The White House official involved is Charles W. Colson, counsel to the President. Colson hired and supervised one of the seven men indicted in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building.

He has said he will be leaving the White House soon and is to join a law firm with his past legal partner, Charles H. Morin.

Morin confirmed Friday, with union

OEA seeks Ferguson Pact repeal vote

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association (OEA) will seek repeal of the state's Ferguson Act, which forbids strikes by public employees, next year.

The group wants it replaced with a law providing collective bargaining in all school districts.

The move came in the form of a proposal adopted Thursday night by the OEA's annual convention of 1,200 delegates. The OEA represents 83,000 Ohio teachers.

The measure was contained in a report of the OEA's legislative committee, which contained 70 proposals.

Neither issue was debated although others were. The proposals passed in a unanimous voice vote.

2 appointed by Lancione

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new speaker in the next Ohio House Friday appointed a $21,507-a-year executive secretary and a $300-a-month chaplain.

John V. McCarthy of Youngstown, a current representative who did not seek reelection to his House seat, will become executive secretary. Speaker-Designate A. G. Lancione said.

The post is one of the most important non-elective patronage jobs in the House. McCarthy will direct the office staffs and be responsible for the hiring and firing of employees.

McCarthy, finishing his second term as a legislator, ran unsuccessfully for Mahoning County treasurer in the Democratic primary last May. He is a former Youngstown city councilman.

The new chaplain will be the Rev. Kenneth Grims, principal of Watterson High School. The chaplain is paid $300 a month while the House is in session. He opens each session with a prayer.

Demo party showdown set; both claim victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prophetic fight for the Democratic party chairmanship climaxes today as insurgents seek to fire Jean Westwood and replace her with Dallas lawyer Robert Strauss.

Strauss, running with the support of a conservative-moderate coalition seeking to reimpose its traditional party control, claimed to have 110 votes to elect him chairman.

But he conceded there was some doubt over whether all of these would first take the dramatic and highly unorthodox step of first deposing publicly the head of a major political party.

A 105-vote majority would be enough to carry either issue, but Mrs. Westwood, who says she will force Strauss to evict her before he can run for the office, claimed 115 votes against a motion to remove her.

Mrs. Westwood, handpicked by George McGovern for the chairmanship after his presidential nomination last August, has been under heavy pressure to quit ever since his landslide defeat in November.

Strauss, a former party treasurer and one of its most successful money raisers, has the backing of a bloc of labor leaders disgruntled over the McGovern nomination, party conservatives led by a core of Southern governors, and moderates saying they want the party pulled back toward centerfield.

Mrs. Westwood, who offered to resign for virtually any replacement other than Strauss, has shown little desire in recent weeks to keep the job herself if she could hand it over to someone who could preserve at least most of the new party reforms fostered by McGovern.

The outcome of today's showdown was expected to set the tone of the Democrats' political approach and appeal in the years leading up to 1976 when the presidency will be wide open again with the retirement of President Nixon.

Mrs. Westwood offered a week ago before Democratic governors meeting in St. Louis to step down if a compromise candidate could be found. But the governors went ahead and endorsed Strauss and asked Mrs. Westwood to bow out gracefully.

Ohio Weather Summary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's weather picture was relatively quiet Saturday morning after a 24-hour period which saw a variety of unpleasant weather conditions occurring in the state.

The National Weather Service's summary of conditions:

Early Friday morning freezing rain and sleet were coating highways in southern and central Ohio with ice while further north snow was falling and making for slippery driving conditions in that area. By noon the freezing rain and snow had changed to rain which became locally heavy in some sections of eastern and southern Ohio.

A flash flood watch was issued for several counties through east central and southeastern Ohio and a flash flood warning was issued for four counties along the Ohio River between Huntington and Parkersburg, W. Va. Over two inches of rain was recorded by the service at Huntington in the 24 hours ending early Saturday.

More than an inch and a half of rain fell at Cincinnati in the same period while further north both Dayton and Columbus recorded more than three quarters of an inch.

In the hours just before sunrise Saturday the rain had diminished to occasional light drizzle although cloudy skies and rather heavy fog were being reported throughout the state. Temperatures ranged from 30 degrees at Toledo to 39 degrees at Zanesville.

Little change in current conditions is expected in the next 12 to 18 hours with temperatures hovering near their present levels. It appears a new storm center forming over the southern plains would spread back over the state bringing rain, but for northwestern Ohio it could be snow or possibly freezing rain or sleet.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

Often we are asked, "Whom shall we see about the preparation of the grave?" "Do you arrange for the clergyman?" "Can you notify the musicians?"

All these details are a part of our service. The family is relieved of as much concern as possible in making funeral arrangements. We know this means much to those whom we serve.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick
